Hijab is an Arabic word meaning barrier or partition and is taken from the Arabic word “Hajaba” which means to hide or to conceal. In Islam, however, it has a broader meaning. It is the principle of modesty and includes behavior as well as dress for both males and females.

Hijab Ideas For Modern Muslim Women

It is interesting to note that resistance via the hijab has not been a peculiar aspect of Indian politics alone; Muslim African-American women in the U.S. at times wear a hijab to indicate their religious affiliation in the attempts to drive out the supposition that all African-Americans are Christians, and that simply people with origins abroad can be Muslim. 13 percent of adult

Hijab or veiling is commonly practiced by Muslim women but remains controversial in the broader secular society. Some Western feminists argue that veiling is an oppressive behavior that negatively affects women by, for example, engendering depression. This article tests this hypothesis with a national sample of American Muslim women (N = 194).

Frequently Asked Questions About Muslim Women and the Veil ...

Hijab is an Islamic concept of modesty and privacy. This concept is not unique to Islam, but embraced by other religions, such as Judaism (where the concept of modesty is called Tzuniut) and Christianity. The Islamic concept of hijab is most often expressed in women's clothing. Hijab garments range from simple head scarves (called khimaar or simply hijab) to head-to-toe cloaks such as abayas and burqas.

Hijab: Veiled in Controversy | National Geographic Society
