The incredible true story of the card-counting mathematics professor who taught the world how to beat the dealer and, as the first of the great quantitative investors, ushered in a revolution on Wall Street. A child of the Great Depression, legendary mathematician Edward O. Thorp invented card counting, proving the seemingly impossible: that you could beat the dealer at the blackjack table. As a result he launched a gambling renaissance. His remarkable success—and mathematically unassailable method—caused such an uproar that casinos altered the rules of the game to thwart him and the legions he inspired. They barred him from their premises, even put his life in jeopardy. Nonetheless, gambling was forever changed. Thereafter, Thorp shifted his sights to “ the biggest casino in the world ” : Wall Street. Devising and then deploying mathematical formulas to beat the market, Thorp ushered in the era of quantitative finance we live in today. Along the way, the so-called godfather of the quants played bridge with Warren Buffett, crossed swords with a young Rudy Giuliani, detected the Bernie Madoff scheme, and, to beat the game of roulette, invented, with Claude Shannon, the world ’ s first wearable computer. Here, for the first time, Thorp tells the story of what he did, how he did it, his passions and motivations, and the curiosity that has always driven him to disregard conventional wisdom and devise game-changing solutions to seemingly insoluble problems. An intellectual thrill ride, replete with practical wisdom that can guide us all in uncertain financial waters, A Man for All Markets is an instant classic—a book that challenges its readers to think logically about a seemingly irrational world. Praise for A Man for All Markets “ In A Man for All Markets, [Thorp] delightfully recounts his progress (if that is the word) from college teacher to gambler to hedge-fund manager. Along the way we learn important lessons about the functioning of markets and the logic of investment. ” —The Wall Street Journal “ [Thorp] gives a biological summation (think Richard Feynman ’ s Surely You ’ re Joking, Mr. Feynman!) of his quest to prove the aphorism ‘ the house always wins ’ is flawed. . . . Illuminating for the mathematically inclined, and cautionary for would-be gamblers and day traders ” — Library Journal

Capital Ideas traces the origins of modern Wall Street, from the pioneering work of early scholars and the development of new theories in risk, valuation, and investment returns, to the actual implementation of these theories in the real world of investment management. Bernstein brings to life a variety of brilliant academics who have contributed to modern investment theory over the years: Louis Bachelier, Harry Markowitz, William Sharpe, Fischer Black, Myron Scholes, Robert Merton, Franco Modigliani, and Merton Miller. Filled with in-depth insights and timeless advice, Capital Ideas reveals how the unique contributions of these talented individuals profoundly changed the practice of investment management as we know it today.

Wall Street is a funny business. All you have is your reputation. Taint it and someone else will fill your shoes. Longevity comes from maintaining that reputation. Ask Jack Grubman, the All-Star telecom analyst from Salomon Smith Barney; uber-banker Frank Quattrone at CS First Boston; Morgan Stanley's Mary "Queen of the Net" Meeker; or Merrill Lynch's Henry Blodget. Well, they probably won't tell you anything. But have I got some great stories for you. Successful hedge fund manager Andy Kessler looks back on his years as an analyst on Wall Street and offers this cautionary tale of the intoxicating forces loose in the world of finance that overwhelmed sober analysis.

A Harvard scholar argues that mathematical models can provide solutions to current economic challenges, explaining that the economic meltdown of 2008 was based on a misunderstanding of scientific models rather than on the models themselves.

Drawing from his experience as a securities analyst, economist, and investor, the author explains the workings of Wall Street and offers advice on determining the value and potential of stocks

Nicolas Darvas, author of the phenomenal best-seller, How I Made $2,000,000 In The Stock Market, has devised a breakthrough system for charting the stock market. Called the DAR-CARD, it is easy to use and has the all-important ingredient that existing systems lack: DAR-CARD needs no interpretation. The philosopher's stone of the stock market, DAR-CARD converts data into profits. It eliminates confusing fluctuations and indicates the trend and the buy and sell points-the factors that matter if you want to make money. DAR-CARD is a compact, visual representation of Nicolas Darvas's system; a simple device to be carried in the pocket, to be checked against each day's closing prices. No bigger than a postcard, DAR-CARD contains its own built-in instructions and all the information necessary to make a decision on whether to buy, sell or hold. In addition to providing this unique tool for dealing with the stock market, Darvas offers straightforward advice on: when to buy; what shall I watch for;

From 1987 to 1992, a small group of Wall Street quants invented an entirely new way of managing risk to maximize success: risk management for risk-takers. This text examines this approach and offers valuable advice for the calculated risk-takers who need precise quantitative guidance that will help separate them from the rest of the pack.

The clinical study of the over-the-counter market by a world famous dancer who became one of the most successful financial investors in history. Includes: Profitable techniques, strategies and graphs! This is the best book you'll ever read on investing, if you believe that stocks should only be bought if they are going to go up. The author tells how he finally learned, through trial and error (mostly error), what distinguishing characteristics a rising stock possesses. Just as importantly, he expertly discusses the psychological struggles the mind deals with throughout the stock holding period. A MUST READ for anyone determined to consistently make money in the markets.
